Excerpt: . . . 11 would be terribly interested in being part of corporations that didnt do that. So while I dont know exactly what the right formula is, I know this one really stinks. This approach is one that I believe Members here can relate to very well. Senator A. So you are recommending that we look into this KAKA reimbursement Mr. OK. It would make life a little easier for those who are EFFE out of town. Again, for folks in Washington, DC, it makes no difference. So as a result, it becomes almost a default option that if you have two candidates and one is in D. C. and the other one isnt, sometimes it comes down to the choice on the basis of the fact that if you have someone who is resident here, that almost becomes a matter of convenience....
