By Elizabeth Stuart Phelps

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 279 x 216 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. The story is told from the point-of-view of a 45-year-old doctor, Esmerald Thorne, who is the bastion of the small-town medical community in which he resides. His patients love him and he loves his patients. But if you read between the lines you also get to see that he might have a bit of a god complex, because he is a man of science who thinks himself slightly superior to the mere mortals he treats. Of course, with hindsight, and knowing that the book has a strong religious message to impart, it's clear that Stuart Phelps wants to cut her doctor character down a peg or two. She gives him a more human side by having him fall desperately in love with Helen, a woman 12 years his junior. ( My accident held me a prisoner for six weeks. But my love put me in chains in six minutes. ) And after a short courtship the pair marry and later become parents to a son. Dr Thorne describes himself as being chloroformed with joy....

Reviews

It is just one of the most popular ebook. It usually fails to price an excessive amount of. You will not really feel monotony at any moment of your time (that's what catalogues are for about when you check with me).
