Excerpt from Instructions on Wiring (Wire Obstacles): January, 1918 1. The object of these notes is to standardize the construction of obstacles and to limit the patterns taught and used. 2. There are at present too many types of wire entanglements, and too many drills for erecting them in use. Recruits may learn three or four drills at home, and then others at the Base in France; yet on reaching his company or battalion the men may be told to forget all these and to adopt the divisional standard pattern. When only short training is possible, this can only lead to inefficiency. 3. To ensure that all training is directed to the same purpose, four patterns of entanglements have been selected, and these, and the drills for erecting them, will be the regulation ones. Units are forbidden to adopt any other without previous sanction. This does not mean that these four standards may not be modified if lack of men or materials demand it; e.g., for very rapid work one of the aprons in the apron fence...
