CHAPTER VIII EPILEPTIC PSYCHOSES Epileptic feeble-mindedness with the classical grand mal or lighter petit mal is a subject belonging to general medicine, but in the study of legal and mental diseases acquires special importance for there is no other morbid state that so often holds responsibility for unprovoked criminal action. A social deterioration thus may shape a vagabond, or explosive violence lead to arson, murder or immoral offences. The variety of possibilities is hardly limited. The question of insanity may be one for nice adjustment, for the diagnosis must take well into account the history of the case, the mental and physical markings, and then judge as to whether the protection of others or the welfare of the patient makes commitment advisable. With a story of violence that may be repeated, the need can not be set aside and crimes of exposure may...
